R55: Education fit for the 21st Century - teaching and learning in the digital age

Date Wednesday 27 November 2024
Venue Zoom, Online
Cost IAPS members - £135 (non-IAPS members - £185)

Exploring the impact of innovative digital tools and working practices within education: teaching, learning, inclusion, teacher workload and developing a culture of innovation in a changing market. In an era marked by rapid technological advancements and digital transformation, it is imperative for educational leaders to ensure that our teaching, learning and school culture are aligned with the demands of the 21st century. Built on the latest research and classroom practice from specialists across the curriculum and age range, this webinar addresses the urgent need to equip students with the skills and knowledge necessary to thrive in an increasingly competitive digitally-driven world. Targeted at school leaders, directors of studies, digital leads, heads of department, and SENCOs, this series of sessions will provide action-focused insights and strategies to create a forward-thinking, inclusive, and technologically enriched educational environment

Audience School leaders, Directors of studies, Digital leads, Heads of Department, SENCOs
