

Online bullying across the curriculum

Humanities	ICT	Arts
History – Pick two historical figures. In pairs, compose your own ‘tweet battle’ between them. (Remember: tweets can only be 280 characters long!)	Hashtag Contest (Starter) – In groups, try to come up with the best hashtag you can to raise awareness of online bullying. You only have 2 minutes! Your teacher can pick the winner.	Event Planning – Plan a day themed around positivity and kindness. What sort of activities will you have? Will people dress a certain way? Will you have any special guests?
History – Choose a year by which bullying will become a thing of the past. Based on this, plan how you will achieve it – what targets will you have for each week/month/year? Who will be involved in doing this?	Social Media – Design a warning that pops up on an app before you post something, e.g. “Would you want the person you love the most to see this?” “Does the whole world need to see this?” Ask your teacher to send your ideas to us.	Music – Come up with your own song that will inform people about bullying and help combat it in your school. You could even get each class to write a verse and film a music video. We’d love to see these!
