

923 Science: Enhancing Scientific Learning in EYFS and KS1

Date: Tuesday 14 May 2019

Venue: etc.venues, Maple House, 150 Corporation Street, Birmingham B4 6TB

Cost: Online £229 (non IAPS members – additional £100)

Young children are natural scientists and we need to foster their sense of curiosity by providing them with interesting and exciting science lessons that engage and stimulate a sense of wonder. This course aims to provide a host of practical ideas and activities that can be used in the early years and KS1 to develop the Understanding the World area of the foundation stage curriculum and National Curriculum for Science in KS1. During the day we will look at progression in science skills and the different ways children can work scientifically. It will be a hands on session and delegates will leave with a pack of materials including ideas for the classroom.

Audience: Teachers of EYFS/KS1, Science Co-ordinators KS1

Objectives: To understand what is meant by science in the Early Years Foundation Stage and KS1; Be able to plan stimulating and exciting science activities that develop children's ability to work scientifically; Know what progress in scientific enquiry looks like and plan for this with the children you teach.

Course Director: Lucy Lindsay, IAPS Science Subject Adviser

Speaker: Debbie Eccles, Primarily Science
