Q24: Spring conference - The future of energy and moving towards a fully sustainable school

Date Friday 12 May 2023

Venue De Vere Grand Connaught Rooms, 61-65 Great Queen St, London WC2B 5DA

Cost IAPS Members £229

Adding detail to the subject area first addressed at the annual conference in Edinburgh 2022, this one-day conference will provide more details and draw on the experience of a range of people professionally active in promoting a more sustainable future.

Audience IAPS heads, deputy heads, senior staff members and anyone leading in this subject area.

Objectives Working with our Premier Partner eEnergy and other innovators in this area, this course will set out to describe what it really entails to move your school into a more sustainable position. We will set out the steps that can be taken to achieve progress in this area, what the challenges will be, not the least in terms of budget, and how with careful planning your school can achieve net zero. During the day, we will also consider how schools can develop a curriculum embracing a more sustainable approach and engage pupils effectively in the process.

Course

Director Christopher King, IAPS CEO.

Presenter(s) Christopher King, IAPS CEO, Marcus Culverwell, Claire Robinson, eEnergy team, Mel Harwood, Founder and CEO, eduCCate Global
